Workshop: Catching Up

Remember last week when you really wanted to implement that feature on your website but had to move on to the next thing? Or you wanted to solve a merge conflict but had no time and ended up just copying and pasting a working version of your project? Or an enticing JS problem presented itself and you just never got to it?

Today is your day to catch up completely with HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. Next week, we'll head into the land of Ruby! Spend your time today finishing what you didn't finish before and asking the instructor questions. Don't forget to stay until the end of class at 6pm and have a wonderful weekend!
